

Harold E. Countryman

BURLINGTON, Ind. — Harold E. Countryman, 61, Burlington, died in St. Joseph Memorial Hospital, Kokomo, Monday, Dec. 8, 1980. He had been ill since July.

He was born Sept. 3, 1919, in Galveston, the son of Claude and Gertrude (Highley) Countryman. He was married June 27, 1980, to Pauline M. Moylan, who survives.

Also surviving are three sons, Jack E. Countryman of Brazil, Lt. James E. Countryman, stationed with the U.S. Navy in Virginia Beach, Va., and Dan A. Countryman of Wakarusa; a daughter, Jayne E. Newton of Greentown; a brother, Highley H. Countryman of Palatine, Ill.; a sister, Lois Ann Casper of Clinton, Iowa; and two grandchildren.

He had lived in the Greentown area for 30 years and was service station manager of Chism's Corner there. He was a farmer and a past manager of Comer and Son Oil Co. of Greentown. He had served with the U.S. Army during World War II and was a member of First United Methodist Church in Greentown, a past commander of Greentown American Legion, Kokomo Forty and Eight Club and Kokomo Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Murray Funeral Home, Galveston Chapel, with burial in Galveston Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.