Veteran Of Revolution Discovered

While this Veterans Day honors men and women who served in the defense of their country, there is special mention of a veteran from America's first war.

Hugh Woods, a Pennsylvanian who is buried in Fitzer Cemetery at the intersection of Cass County Roads 400S and 500W, was recently discovered to be a Revolutionary War veteran. Cass County historian Barbara Wolfe documented Woods' veteran status early last month. Woods becomes the 19th known Revolutionary War veteran to be buried in Cass County.

A special commemorative grave marker has been ordered by the county for Woods.

Woods was born in 1760. He was wounded on Aug. 2, 1779 and was discharged on Sept. 15, 1782. Information from the Pennsylvania Archives indicates that Woods was wounded in the wrist and transferred to the Invalid Corps before being discharged. He was a member of the 4th Pennsylvania Regiment and served under the command of Capt. William Henderson and Col. William Butler.

Woods died on Jan. 2, 1854, at age 94.

The other soldiers from the Revolutionary War in the county are David Douglass, Christian Kruder, John Pulee, Alexander Scott, John Ward, John Bartlett, Peter Bowyer, Jacob Bowyer, Abner Clark, Hezekiah Bloomfield Hubbel, Joseph Rogers James, Abraham Larue, Edward Purcell, George St. Clair, Cephas Venard, George Washburn, William York, and Isaac Marquise Sr.

Larue, Washburn and James were all Logansport residents.

The body of an unknown soldier is buried at Olde Towne. The Battle of Olde Towne was Aug. 8, 1791.

Unmarked Grave Of Revolutionary War Soldier To Have Tombstone

The unmarked grave of a Revolutionary war soldier buried in Cass county 127 years ago this month will soon have a suitable tombstone, provided by the federal government, as the result of lengthy research by his great-great-great-great granddaughter, Mrs. Barbara (Schull) Wolfe, 3618 Tomlinson Dr.

Although William York was known to have been buried in the Davis cemetery in Jefferson township on Sept. 6, 1839, at the age of 84, for some reason there was no record here of his Revolutionary war service.

The local Olde Towne chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will conduct a suitable ceremony when the gravestone arrives here. The stone was ordered in June.

THE FACT that York's Revolutionary war record was not known by local service organiations was particularly surprising in view of the hardships he endured during the war for American independence.

At the beginning of the war he resided in Virginia near the North Carolina line and records show that in 1777 he was an Army private in the first regiment in North Carolina.

While he was in North Carolina the British burned his home and all of his household furniture.

York was taken prisoner by the British and remained in captivity for some time, but subsequently was exchanged or made his escape and returned to service until the end of the war, when he received an honorable discharge. Among the battles in which he participated was the Battle of Brandywine.

SOON AFTER the close of the war, York moved to Warren county, Ga., where he resided about 22 years. He then moved to Preble county, Ohio, where he resided until 1835. He came to Cass county about four years before his death.

Mrs. Wolfe, daughter of Eel Township Trustee Thomas Schull, discovered the Revolutionary war record of her ancestor while tracing the family history.

The information about York was obtained from the national archives in Washington, D. C., from Darke county, Ohio, and North Carolina archives and from the Indiana state library and estate records here.

Mrs. Wolfe has a copy of a receipt for his coffin, which cost $6.75.

THERE ARE eight other Revolutionary war soldiers on the Indiana roster of those buried in Cass county. They are Peter Bowyer, James Butler, David Douglass, Christian Krider, John Pulee, Alexander Scott, John Ward, and George (St. Clair) Sinclair.

The two Kentuckians killed in the Battle of Olde Towne, John Bartlett and an unidentified soldier, also are reported to have been Revolutionary war soldiers.
